CARRY-OUT DINING:
COLLEGE & UNIVERSITY EXCLUSIVE

CARRY-OUT

MEAL AND COMFORT SOLUTIONS

As you plan your fall menus, consider meals that hold up well for carry-out and bring excitement or comfort to your students as they navigate the strange "new normal." We've created some chicken applications that turn appetizers into entrees to keep your students' spirits up when they're spending more time in their dorms and apartments.

Offer to-go single servings or shareable platters that students can pick up as they head off campus. Finger foods like the recipes below are ideal for evenings of videogaming, binge-watching, and chatting with friends.

MINI CHICKEN AND WAFFLES

These mini chicken and waffles are made with popcorn chicken, bacon, syrup, and waffles. Use tooth picks to hold the mini waffle sandwiches together.

Create community with virtual group meals.

Build some hype around your carry-out meals by asking students to post photos of them with a specific hashtag. Since students will be enjoying the meals in a variety of locations, the photos they post will all be different. For some extra fun, create a contest around the hashtag so that all students who posts a photo with the tag get entered to win a free meal.

Create a virtual community and promote your meals at the same time by choosing a date and time for everyone to post the photos. Start a Facebook or Twitter thread where students can share their photos as a reply to your post and have the meal "together."
