

Bring stadium foods to your K-12 cafeteria.

If you've been to a sports stadium recently, you know that the foods sold there are getting bigger, bolder, and more photo-worthy. The excitement around the sports food is almost as big as the excitement around the sports themselves. You can build hype like that in your own cafeterias too, for pep rallies and big games, or to support your favorite professional teams.

If your local, regional, or school sports teams have big events, highlight those events with special meals. Students who support the teams will enjoy having a themed meal to fuel their eager anticipation of the games. Plus, the meals will be so fun that even students who aren't enthused about sports will want to eat them.

Cowboy Quesadilla

Add some celebratory flair to your chicken quesadillas by topping them with cowboy caviar. This will give the dish a zesty flavor, and get your students eating more veggies. Brakebush Fajita Sliced Chick'N'Zips® \(5246\) are ideal for chicken quesadillas because they're fully cooked and pre-sliced.
